SARASOTA BEACHES & BARRIER ISLANDS

Venice Beach

Longboat Key

This is the northernmost and longest island along Sarasota's coast, boasting 12 miles of pristine shoreline. During the summer season, Longboat Key is a popular beach for turtles to nest and lay their eggs. Enjoy relaxing views of the Gulf of Mexico, smaller crowds and a laid-back vibe at this relaxing destination. For easier parking, head to Bayfront Park Recreation Center or nearby Whitney Beach.

Lido Key

The key received its name when John Ringling, a fan of Italian culture, referred to its three white-sand beaches by using the Italian word "lido," which means "beach." North Lido offers fewer crowds, hiking trails and an unspoiled shoreline while the main Lido Beach—replete with lifeguards on duty, parking and a public pavilion with a cafe and bathrooms, is great to post up for the whole day. For those looking to paddle the mangrove tunnels or grill out on the barbecues, South Lido Beach Park delights.

Siesta Key

The eight-mile island is accessible by two bridges from the mainland and composed of three beaches. Families and sunbathers alike will hit up Siesta Beach—widely regarded as one of the best beaches in the world and annually ranked in TripAdvisor's Top Beaches in the U.S.—complete with a public pavilion, plenty of parking, volleyball nets and colorful lifeguard stands. Further south, Crescent Beach and Turtle Beach reveal their own charming personality, recreational options and Gulf Coast beauty.

Casey Key

Nokomis Beach is Sarasota County's oldest public beach and is a popular spot for shell combing, boogie boarding and surfing. The south end of Casey Key, North Jetty Beach, is designed with visitors in mind and is great for spotting dolphins, manatees and pelicans cruising through the inlet. Picnic areas, concession stands, fishing opportunities and on-duty lifeguards attract families to this 18-acre park year-round.

Venice

With a bustling fishing pier, public pavilion, expansive parking lot and a relaxed island lifestyle, Venice Beach remains a popular spot to settle in for the entire day. Caspersen Beach is one of the longest stretches of beach still in its natural state and is world-renowned for unearthing shark teeth on and offshore. Further south is Sarasota County's only dog-friendly beach, Brohard Paw Park, where leashes aren't necessary and pups run free.

Manasota Key

Sarasota's most southern key offers four beaches—Manasota, Blind Pass Beach, Englewood Beach and Stump Pass Beach State Park—and attracts nature lovers and beachgoers alike. From sand dunes and mangroves to driftwood forests and picnic tables, Manasota Key is great for those looking to escape the crowds, explore tucked-away sections of shoreline and admire Florida flora and fauna.

What's NEW?

For a more breezy sense of place, grab a panorama shot while walking the pedestrian-friendly span of the iconic John Ringling Bridge at sunset. The 65-foot-tall bridge connects Downtown Sarasota to the palm-lined, turquoise waters of Bird Key Park.

Or, wait for it...catch the elusive green flash of the sun's rays setting over the Gulf of Mexico from an unbeatable vantage point on the 720-foot-long Venice Fishing Pier in Venice.

UNFILTERED Sunsets

LARGER-THAN-LIFE Murals

Pineapple Avenue, Historic Burns Court

All throughout Downtown Sarasota's Main Street and Historic Burns Court District, stop to admire contemporary public art and zoom your camera out to capture a vast array of picture-perfect murals covering the facades of buildings that range from modern skyscrapers to trendy restaurants and historic bungalows.

Skip to the nearby Rosemary District, an art-focused neighborhood known for its colorful cultural scene of large-scale murals around every corner and intricate wall art depicting the area's deep history.

The day's final frame captures a sojourn at Downtown Wellen Park, where murals adorned with birds, blooms and butterflies from Florida muralists line the walls of the waterside community of restaurants and shops.

For a grounded scene, shift your lens to the intricate trunk and roots of the mighty banyan tree and wander through bayside exhibits of magnificent air plants, blooming bromeliads, orchids and native flora at Marie Selby Botanical Gardens' Downtown Campus—the first net-positive energy botanical garden complex in the world and recently honored in TIME's 2024 World's Greatest Places!

For a more rugged setting, zoom in on a 37,000-acre tropical forest from the Canopy Walkway, a 100-foot-long treetop trail in Myakka River State Park. Find winding rivers of Florida alligators, green hammocks, fields of coreopsis (the state's wildflower) and, if you're lucky, the unmistakable black-and-white plumage of a swallow-tailed kite.

Ca' d'Zan

The John and Mable Ringling Museum of Art. The 1920s Mediterranean Revival mansion boasts IG-worthy backdrops everywhere you look—from the detailed marble terrace and stunning colored glass panes to the Venetian Gothic arches and terracotta ornamental facade.
